INCREASED HYDROGEN AND OXYGEN

HUMANS AND ANIMALS

Increased Oxygen in the water more effectively and passively oxidizes chemicals, while providing additional available oxygen and hydrogen for hydration to aid biological cellular maintenance and formation. _

PLANTS

Toxic effects in water and soil are dampened. Aerobic Bacteria encouraged resulting from oxygen available water, resulting in better root formation and overall growth. Anaerobic pathogenic microbes, which are toxic to the plant, are reduced. TSP

NOTES: There are some 'statements of use' and limited testing regarding trials with certain therapies as 'structured water enhanced' by third party articles and research. We have some testimony in this direction. The correlation needs made through testimony, because we have no sanctioned or formal study regarding human trials. Noting that functional, activated, levitated, charged water, and double helix water are all indicating structured water, and all seem to have fairly similar results in certain situations including human trials and testimonies).

Structured water is therefore created by many different methods resulting in the same observed characteristics and further Exclusion Zone water identified by Gerald Pollack as indicated by the presence of the compound  $H_3O_2$ , (INDICATING INCREASED OXYGEN and INCREASED HYDROGEN IN COMPOUND) indicate in more detail the behavior of structured water to potentially isolate large levels of toxins in colloidal form for simpler elimination and less reaction. These suggestions are supported by articles and books, and compared in TSP's information attempts to correlate by specifying which examples were performed by our device and display similar results in testing and applications; by measurement and through lab work by measurement standard.
